NOTE: U.S. Dollar began to rise during last 2 hours of market trading. This resulted in oil retreating from $70 per barrel to settle in the mid $68 range. This also caused a drag on gold which was reflected in the market during the closing hours of trading. Please be advised that you should continue to maintain you OIL, GAS, and GOLD ETF's. We will see a rebound and an uptick in these positions during next week because the U.S. Dollar does not currently have the fundamental basis to sustain today's knee-jerk increase.
